

Research on Social Environment and Health among various generation

Eri Osawa

It aims to identify relations between social environments and health among various generation domestically and internationally. Also I try to apply study results to community health policy formulation practically.

«Research 1 : Respos to new health issues supported by country characteristics»

- Development of possible indicators for health-related SDGs

(supported by 2013-2015 MOHLW grant & AMED.
PI: Eri Osawa)

«Research2 : Elderly Health »

- Development of new strategy responding to ageing society in Asian region

(supported by 2016-2017 Toyota foundation
International grant program
PI: Hiroko Miura)

Infant/Child Health

Elderly Health

Parents Health

«Research3: Child and Parents Health»

- Development of community resources supporting child and family

(2013-2014 MOHLW grant, PI: Fujiko Fukushima)

- Identification of community resources for supporting child and family matching community needs (currently applying)